MAUA BANK,
01—103 CALLE CANGALLO

The Offices of this Bank having been removed to the above spacious building, in order to suit the increasing flow of business, the public is informed that the following transactions are carried on in currency and specie in this Bank:—

First—Bills and obligations with good signatures are discounted on conventional terms.

Second—Money is advanced on mercantile and other securities approved of by the Manager.

Third—Accounts current are opened with Merchants or other parties who may prefer depositing endorsed and transferable securities, against which they may draw up to an amount previously convened under conditions established for such class of operations.

Fourth—Money is received in account current bearing interest from day of deposit, which is accumulated in favor of the parties every three months, the depositors being allowed to retire at any time, by means of checques, part or the full amount at their wish, save when the quantity exceeds three hundred doubloons or one hundred thousand dollars currency in which case forty-eight hours' previous notice is required to be given at the Treasury of the Bank.

Fifth—Bills or letters of credit are drawn and taken on Montevideo, Rosario, Sta Fé, Salto Oriental, Paysandu, Rio Janeiro, and other places in the Brazils, England and France, as also on other places, of which notice will be given hereafter.

Finally, the Bank undertakes and executes all legitimate transactions within the orbit of banking operations.

The establishment is always open from 10 a.m. till 3 p.m.

L I V E R C O M P L A I N T S

Among civilised mankind there is no complaint so prevalent as the above, late medical statistics showing that fully one-half of nearly all the communities are to a greater or less degree afflicted with it. Under these circumstances, it is highly important that the wonderful curative powers of in Liver Complaint, should be made to the public. They are in this disease, as nearly as can be said of any medical preparation,

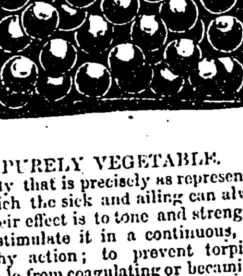
A PERFECT SPECIFIC!



PURELY VEGETABLE.

A remedy that is precisely as represented, and one on which the sick and ailing can always depend. Their effect is to tone and strengthen the Liver, to stimulate it in a continuous, natural, and healthy action; to prevent torpidity, to keep the bile from coagulating or becoming thick and sticky, which is always the condition in certain stages of Liver Complaint, being the preliminary to the formation of gall-stones—and the most excruciating pain in their passage through the duct into the bowels.

BRISTOL'S SUGAR-COATED PILLS.

Do not depend upon any mineral or dangerous substance for their acting upon the liver, They are purely vegetable. and entail no evil consequences upon the patient; they do not dry up the natural humidity of the bowels, thereby causing a continual necessity for further purgation, and the ultimate weakening of the entire excretory organs.

PODOPHYLLIN AND LEPTANDRIN.

The active principles of Bristol's Pills are acknowledged by all enlightened physicians to be the surest and safest remedy for every form of hepatic or biliary derangement. No other Pill, of which we have any knowledge, contain these invaluable resinoids. Prepared in our own laboratory, under our personal supervision, they insure the unvarying uniformity of operation for which Bristol's Pills have become so justly celebrated. But the powerful anti-billious properties of these Pills are not their only virtue, they are besides a splendid tonic, a thorough yet safe cathartic, a sure cure for indigestion and dyspepsia; safe for the weakest, yet strong enough for the most robust. In short, they are an unfailing

SOURCE OF GOOD HEALTH.

To those who use them, without any of the griping, ripening, or weakening effects produced by the operation of other Pill.

In every case where there is reason to suspect that the blood is impure, or that there is any taint of Scrofula in the system, BRISTOL'S SARSAPARILLA should be used in conjunction with the Pills, the two medicines being prepared to act in harmony and when used together they ensure a speedy and complete recovery.

For Sale at all the principal Drug Stores.

It being an admitted fact, that "Money makes money," the object of LA BIENHECHORA could not be better, since it opens a vast Savings Bank for the surplus or savings of the Public, so that, by the proper employment of these small gains, a moderate capital, or oven annuity, may be secured in a short time. By this means a provident, though helpless, family can husband their small means, and, in the end, attain a competency.

It being proved that the accumulation of interest is the most powerful means of augmenting the capital, THE BIENHECHORA DEL PLATA—an Argentine Company, whose only investments are in the country—holds out to Subscribers greater advantages than any other Institution, by reason of all its dealings being in the River Plate, where are current as large interests as in any part of the world.

THE BIENHECHORA DEL PLATA receives Deposits of from Five Patacones per Annum up to any amount in Weekly, Monthly, or Yearly Instalments.

DISSOLVING VIEW APPARATUS, WITH
KALEIDOSCOPE ATTACHMENT AND LANTERN MICROSCOPE, FOR SALE.

These Instruments are FIRST-CLASS, having been made to order, with elegant mahogany bodies, lined with metal, with rack adjustments, and clock-work to move the limes. They are from the well-known Establishment of Newton and Co., Opticians to her Majesty, London, and are arranged to work with either the Ox-calcyum or Ox-hydrogen Light, and with the latter arrangement are capable of throwing upon the screen a clear picture thirty feet in diameter.

In connexion with this Apparatus and its accessories, there are about 300 Views, &c., selected personally by the subscriber during his visit to England and the United States—enough, altogether, to make up twelve entirely different Exhibitions, consisting of one sett of Astronomical Diagrams, made by Barnard and Son, the same as those exhibited in Professor Pepper's Lectures at the Polytechnic, London.

Gustave Doré's Illustrations of Dante's Inferno, which elicited from the Emperor of the French an autograph complimentary letter to the Artist, photographed and colored by Langenheim, of Philadelphia.

Illustrations of Memorable Events described in the Bible—Natural Phenomena, Views in the Holy Land, England, Italy, France, Spain, Switzerland; United States, including those of Niagara, by O. H. Willard, of Philadelphia, which excited such immense admiration at the last Annual Meeting in Boston, of the United States National Photographic Association. Views in the Artic Regions, Statuary, moving Shipping, the Mill, Cruickshank's Bottle, &c. A great variety of Comic, Amusing, Instructive, and other moving slides and cormotropes. A good assortment of Brushes, and the new transparent colors for painting slides. Specimens for the Microscope Lantern, &c., properly assorted and beautifully and delicately colored, together with numerous publications relating to the business, and a programme which will enable several active intelligent persons to make their fortunes in the Towns of the River Plate.

The Magic Lantern in its rude state, in former times, in the hands of wizards and necromancers, served no better purpose than to induce a belief in their possession of supernatural powers, now occupies a deservedly high position as a scientific instrument, capable of affording rational amusement and instruction to the young as well as children of 'a larger growth.'

In England and the United States this improved and marvellous contrivance has not only become one of the popular amusements, but is also extensively used for educational purposes.

During an evening's entertainment, assisted by Photography, an audience may be carried in imagination through many distant countries and places, viewing scenes and objects as they exist, leading the spectator to believe that he is looking upon the reality itself rather than upon a picture.

This Apparatus is recommended to Professors of Colleges and Public Institutions of Learning, to enable them to illustrate their Lectures in the most interesting and attractive manner.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

VALUABLE SAW MILL PROPERTY FOR SALE, IN BRAZIL.

A very favorable opportunity for a profitable investment in producing the most beautiful woods of the variegated woods of Brazil, is now offered to dealers in Muhogany, Rosewood, Lignumvitæ, Brazilian Cedar, Cannela, Perroba, and the celebrated Arriba, the richest veined cabinet woods of South America.

The transportation of logs down the River Itajhy, by one branch of fifty miles, and another of forty miles, affords great facilities for an abundant supply for the Saw Mill.

The Mill is located only 1¼ miles from the sea, in the Province of Santa Catharina, 45 miles distant from Desterro, the capital, and 350 miles south of Rio de Janeiro by sea. Vessels drawing 18 feet of water can take cargoes from the Saw Mill Wharf.

The Saw Mill is 108 feet by 72 feet, with about six acres of land, containing orange and banana trees, and a tenement House 108 feet by 32 feet.

Piles are driven to form a large Boom for Logs, and a Logway and Apparatus made for drawing up the logs to the Mill, together with a Double-truck Railway for delivering the sawed lumber on shipboard.

An Office and Storehouse are on the Premises

There are two new large Cylindrical Flue Boilers, with a return flue through each, made of the best flange iron, and a powerful Steam Engine, capable of sawing 12,000 feet of boards in a day; a 60-inch circular saw, spare saw, and extra movable teeth, slabbing and edging saw, best double leather belts, a good blacksmith's and carpenter's shop, turning engines, and a supply of vices and tools for repairs.

The whole Establishmedt is the most complete in South America.

A new and first-rate large planing and grooving machine is in operation in the Mill.

A Plan of the Building, and samples of the beautiful available woods, may be seen, on application to Crawford Allen, Providence; or Allen D. Baily, 181 Pearl-street, New York. Post Office address—Box No. 690.

MASTERMAN'S BOOK.

Seven Eventful Years in Paraguay.

Without in the least wishing to disparage Colonel Thompson's excellent and interesting work on Paraguay, we must say that Mr Masterman has gone further towards laying a foundation for an accurate acquaintance with the history of Paraguayan sorrows, of throwing light upon the social affairs of the people, of unravelling the mournful and startling history of Lopez' cruelties than any other writer of the day. It is really insufficient praise to say that Mr Masterman stands first in the category of writers on Paraguay, since with the exception of Colonel Thompson's book, which is more a military work than anything else, all we have respecting Paraguay is a careless compilation of newspaper literature partaking greatly of the sensational, chapters of horror written to gratify the prevailing taste for excitement, which occupy for the hour public attention, are hurried over and forgotten.

Mr Masterman is evidently a man of great observation; he knows how to tell his story agreeably, and aims at nothing more. For those who seek accurate information of the causes which led to the war, who seek to investigate each fearful step in this appalling drama the work in question will prove a most invaluable guide;—his narrative of personal expesience amongst the Paraguayans is written in that easy strain which carries the reader along with the author throughout as a spectator of the sad scenes recorded. There is a tone of conscientious sincerity in every chapter which gains on even the most prejudiced, and convinces the reader that the author in nothing either exaggerates or extenuates, but as far as his personal experience allows writes the truth and nothing but the truth.

And in yielding this tribute of well merited praise to Mr Masterman, we must observe that although he writes to justify himself and his companions in misfortune before the world, he intrudes his own and their affairs but little upon the reader's notice. Neither does he under the garb of friendship seek to screen conduct which under whatever circumstances can never be excused. He gives Bliss, Manlove and others their merits, deals fairly with Washburne, and even towards Mrs Lynch is impartial, as will appear by the following extract:—

Mrs. Lynch passed soon after, in a carriage and pair; she bowed with a gracious smile; we took off our caps to her, all well knowing that a word from her could send us to the scaffold, or worse, on the morrow. I have since learnt that she took every opportunity of talking about the conspiracy, and abusing Mr. Washburn and his friends to Lopez, incessantly harping upon his generosity as a ruler, and their base ingratitude. "Oh, how your Excellency has sacrificed yourself for the sake of your country!" she would say to the fat, drunken sensualist after dinner; "and these wicked men have conspired against you! Es muy triste señor—Oh! very sad indeed." Not from any desire to destroy us, but simply for her own safety's sake; she could be sure that a man who had imprisoned his brothers, flogged his sisters, shot their husbands, and threatened his mother, would scarcely respect any other tie.

The barbarous cruelties of Lopez towards his brothers-in-law and sisters, are simply told in the following passage:—

Just in the rear of my hut the two sisters of Lopez, Doña Inocencia de Barrios and Doña Rafaela de Bedoya, were imprisoned, each in a covered bullock-cart or carreta, about seven feet long, four wide, and five high. They remained poor ladies, shut up in these moveable prisons for more than five months; I often saw them wheeled past on their way to the fiscales: the front and the windows had been blocked up, and the door behind was secured with a padlock; but an opening had been made in front, about six inches high, through which I suppose their food, etc would be handed in to them. Many times I heard young children crying there, but I do not know if they were theirs. The sufferings they endured almost exceed belief. About December 1867, their husbands incurred the displeasure of Lopez, probably by urging him to make terms with the Allies, and they with their families were ordered down to San Fernando. Early in the succeeding year they were put under arrest. Don Saturnino Bedoya was at first charged with having robbed the Treasury (he was Tesorero-General), and afterwards with complicity in the pretended plot; he protested his innocence, but was put to the torture, which was applied so severely that they dislocated his spine, and he died in intense agony. General Barrios, in order to escape so terrible a fate, tried to commit suicide; but his courage failing him, I suppose, he only inflicted a slight wound, which was dressed, and the day afterwards he was shot. His wife and her sister were taken from their prison, and they were compelled to witness his execution. They, very naturally, poor women, in their grief and despair, expressed their detestation of the barbarous and unnatural cruelty of their ferocious brother; this was reported to him, and he ordered them to be flogged in a manner outraging decency and all feelings of humanity, which was at once carried out. Not content with this, he sent them back to their prisons, and forced them by threats of worse treatment to depose falsely against their murdered husbands; and in December, 1868, he compelled his mother to leave her house at La Trinidad, where she had remained virtually a prisoner for nearly two years, and go to Luque, the temporary capital, and there, before the altar of the church, swear that she recognised Francisco Solano alone as her child, and cursed the rest as rebels and traitors. She piteously pleaded her advanced age (she is about sixty) and disease of the heart as excuses for not complying; but the officer charged to see that her son's orders were carried out told her she must obey or die, and she went. I think the whole sad history of human crime cannot show one record exceeding this in heartless cruelty. A widowed mother, who had seen her youngest son and her two sons in-law executed as criminals; of her remaining sons, one a prisoner, and the other loathed and cursed by thousands as a very fiend incarnate; her daughters outraged and caged like wild beasts; and she, in her helpless old age, compelled on pain of death to mumble imprecations on the dead and living of those dearest to her, and at the command, too; of her eldest born, the child she had once so fondly loved, so tenderly nourished. Better that she had died then, but better, a thousand times, that she had never been born!

The evacuation of Humaita caused the shooting of nearly two thousand prisoners of war. This cold blooded butchery reveals the value which Lopez put on human life; he took very good care, however, of his own. Cowards are always cruel, and the wholesale massacre of two thousand prisoners of war, is an act of which even Theodore with all his crimes is innocent.

Before leaving, Lopez committed an act of atrocious cruelty. He had many prisoners of war; it would encumber him too much to take them on to San Fernando, and the scanty force left in Humaita could scarcely guard them, so he ordered the whole of them to be slaughtered in cold blood; and on that summer's afternoon from 1,500 to 2,000 men were mercilessly butchered. The morning after this fearful scene he commenced his retreat, and in three days reached San Fernando, a place just above the embouchure of the river Tebiquari, with about 10,000 men. The movement was so cleverly managed, that the enemy was completely thrown off the scent, and some weeks elapsed before they discovered where the Paraguayans had gone.

The death of poor Campos is at last explained, he died strung on to a lasso with about 50 other prisoners:—

When I awoke in the morning, I found I was wet through, and lying in a pool of water (heavy rain had fallen, and the wind was bitterly cold), and that it is indeed true that misfortune makes us acquainted with strange bed-fellows. On one side of me was tied Dr. Carreras, still sleeping, and the corpse of Lieut.-Col. Campos on the other. He had died, untended and unheeded, during the night, and lay there staring blankly at the rising sun. This officer was an Argentine, and had been taken prisoner in the battle of Tuyuti.

About seven o'clock in the morning the end of the hide rope was untied, the sleepers awakened by a shower of blows, and we in turn freed ourselves from the knotted loops round our ankles. The corpse was thrown into a hide, and dragged away; the officer in command of the guard remarked. "What, only one this morning!" and thrown into the river. We were then placed about 10 feet apart, and I was warned not to speak to my companions: so I sat down in the driest spot I could find within my limits, and looked wearily around me. What a scene of misery!

The torture of Benigno Lopez, the death of Carreras, and the military executions, are almost too black for publication: we give them to our readers with a pang, to show up the true state of affairs during that bloody reign of terror:—

On the 23rd of September, Don Benigno Lopez was put to the torture; he had been taken away early in the morning, and did not return till long after noon, he shuffled slowly into his hut, which nearly faced mine, and shortly afterwards an officer, with three men carrying the well-remembered bundle of muskets and cords, came up. I became sick with anxiety, Don Benigno turned pale, and rose tremblingly as they came near him, thinking probably of his brother-in-law, Don Saturnino Bedoya, who died under its infliction some months before, and followed them, at a signal from the officer, behind a copse of trees near at hand. About an hour passed away, several officers, including Major Aveiro, went to see him, and at length he was led back, unable to stand, and with his face frightfully distorted by the agony he had suffered.

On the 27th of September, a guard, with fixed bayonets, led off Dr. Carreras and Don Gumesindo Benitez to the little copse where Don Benigno had been taken four days before; a couple of priests and some men with spades followed them. I prayed that they might soon be despatched, and their sorrows be ended. But I now know that a more terrible fate was in store for them; they were inhumanly tortured for a long time before their execution. I waited with feverish anxiety for the end; but it was late ere a volley of musketry and a thin cloud of smoke rising over the bushes told that all was over, that "the wicked had ceased from troubling, and the weary were at rest."

The next day a great many prisoners were shot close to where I was lying; they were principally native officers, the late occupants of the second guardia. All the afternoon the butchery went on; some forty or fifty must have fallen. At one time the firing was so heavy that a sentry near me asked the sergeant if the "cambas" (the Brazilians) were upon them. "No," said he carelessly; "they are only shooting presos." Day after day the same atrocities were committed; a clattering of irons would be heard in the distance, a ragged, wild-eyed wretch would shuffle by, and often did not return, a spluttering volley told why.

Sometimes, however, it was but a visit of greater or less duration to the rancho behind the orange trees. There one or other of my companions went every day; lean, haggard Don José Berges and Don Benigno most frequently. One day I saw the former kneeling in the mud at the feet of Major Caminos, evidently begging him to intercede with the President; a drizzling rain was falling, and there was the ex-minister—who had held that post more than 12 years, and had been sent on a special mission to England and the United States—in his feeble old age, his thin grey hair falling wet and tangled on his shoulders, with clasped and trembling hands imploring mercy from a brutal soldier, who but a few years before would have crouched bareheaded in his excellency's presence. But Lopez hated and, I think, feared him; for when his own election was talked of the people whispered, and in no very cautious tones, that Don José would be the man of their choice, if they could but have one; and he was watched and suspected from the very beginning of the war.

Mr. Masterman fully bears us out in a matter which our colleagues thought proper to call in question, we refer to the formation of women brigades.

In the beginning of this year (1868) several regiments of women were actually formed. They volunteered their services, of course, but the reader need not be reminded what the voluntary offerings of the Paraguayans meant; and for some time it was expected that they would be sent to the front, but after they had been drilled for a few weeks the idea was given up. This fact has been several times commented upon, and as often denied, but I can vouch for the truth of it. I have before me a printed list of names, sixty in number, commencing with that of Juana Tomasa Frutos, and ending with that of Brigida Chaves, and headed "Lista nominal de las señoritas que se ofrecen para tomar las armas." Doña Carolina Gill, an old friend of mine, was "capitana" of one company.

Mr. Bliss, who has figured so much in this awful drama, is defined by the author.

They consulted together in an undertone for some time, and then Padre Maiz went to a hut a little way off, and soon returned, bringing Mr. Bliss with him. I had not till then pictured to myself how miserable my appearance must have been; but the most abject wretch I had ever imagined was exceeded in the reality by that man as he approached me: any manliness he had possessed seemed to have been completely crushed out of him; and, dirty and famished, ragged and untrimmed as I was, I shrank from any contact with him; and although I did not then know what he had been telling, I turned my eyes from him with impatient disgust.

But enough, Masterman's book stands upon its own merits, and is before the public. It needs no recommendation of our hands; for all who care to know anything of a ruined country, extinct people and model tyrant, will find it an invaluable guide. Lopez surpassed Robespierre in his atrocities, since he himself was the sole actor, and the people did not call for blood; he might have carried on his war without those cruelties that have now been established upon testimony which is irrefragable. Thompson's work as a military record of the campaign, and Masterman's as the history of its sorrows, leave nothing further to be required on the subject. We thank our countrymen for the pains they have taken to remove the veil which so long enveloped Paraguay, Lopez and his people; and thank them all the more since we regret to see that the want of an international copy right law has made them the victims of the most censurable literary piracy.

IMPORTANT FROM BRAZIL.

TERRIBLE DROUGHT.

The Imprensa of Piauhy notices that a delegate of police at Union has branded some of his slaves upon the forehead; and the editor says that he himself has seen two of the slaves with the word captivo branded on his forehead.

Union and Industry Company.—A meeting of the shareholders was held on the 11th, to hear the report of the audit committee and that of the committee appointed at the last meeting.

The audit report approved of the accounts, and of reducing the dividend from 20$ to 15$ per share, the revenue having decreased since the contract made with the Dom Pedro II. Railway.

The special committee opines that, after the completion of a fund of reserve to the amount of 300,000$, the whole nett receipts be divided every half year until the term of the company be ended and the road be transferred to the nation.

The two outgoing members of the council were re-elected.

On the 8th D. Josepha de Andrade Figueira, mother of Dr. Domingos de Andrade Figueira, deputy to the Imperial Legislature, was murdered at Itaguahy by one of her slaves, a Brazilian born negro.

Charitable.—On the 6th a meeting of Alagoans resident in Rio was held to devise means of aiding the sufferers in Alagoas from the effects of the long drought in the interior. Committees were appointed to collect subscriptions.

On the 13th a concert was held at the Public Gardens for the same charitable object, and the sum of 2,336$520 was obtained by voluntary contributions, including those of Their Imperial Majesties.

Among the subscriptions received by the committees was one of 1,000$ from the Grand Orient of Brazil.

Some provisions were sent off to Alagoas on the 15th.

Letters from Rio Grande do Sul say that the Marquis do Herval is coming to Rio to seek relief from his wounds.

Lieut.-General Polydora de Fonseca Quintanilha Jordáa arrived in Rio upon the 14th from Paraguay, having been obliged to leave in consequence of ill health,

Besides objecting to the landing in Rio, of the returning troops from Paraguay, for fear of further developing yellow fever, the Central Junta of Public Hygiine has recommended restrictions on the carnival balls, such as stopping them at midnight, or postponing them to a better time.

Para Railroad Co.—The statutes of the company formed in New York not having been 'vised' by the Brazilian consul; the Ministry of Agriculture has sent them and the company's petition back, to have the necessary piece of tape applied.

The Corvette Nictheroy sailed on the 10th for a six months cruize of instruction, under command of Cap. Arthur Rilveira da Motta. The Nictheroy took 38 midshipmen with her, and will proceed first to the Cape of Good Hope, thence to St. Helena, Trinidad, Fernando de Noronha, Pernambuco and Bahia, on her return to Rio Janeiro.

The Jequitinhonha says that a mulatta, who followed the profession of diamond finder at Gráo Mogul, discovered a diamond of about an ounce and three quarters weight. Not being sure it was a diamond, she sent it off to her husband. Unluckily, the messenger talked of it to a diamond seeker whom he met, and that individual proceeded to put the gem to the hammer test, giving it such a blow with the back of his pick that the stone flew into a number of pieces, the largest of which could not again be found. The recovered fragments proved to be of a diamond of the first water.

The burial of the Visconde de Jequitinhonha gave another example of the sacrifices, even of life itself, unnecessarily and unfairly thrown upon the unfortunate national guards of Brazil.

To do military honours to the deceased noble and senator, three battallions of infantry, three of chasseurs and one of artillery, dragging six cannon, were called from earning their bread, and were kept for five hours in marches, salutes and military tomfoolery, beneath the broiling sun of February. The consequence was that all were wearied to exhaustion, several had to be carried to the hospitals, and one died.

Mauá Bank vs S. Paulo Railway Co.—The Reforma says, that, at the session of the Supreme Tribunal of Justice held upon the 19th. a decision was come to in regard to the refusal of the Relação of Rio to review, upon order of the Supreme Tribunal, the decision of the Juiz de Direito, declarative of want of jurisdiction of the Brazilian courts in regard to the suit. By majority of 7 to 3 the Supreme Tribunal of Justice decided that the two, desembargadores, of the Court of Relação who had refused to take cognizance of the review ordered by the Supreme Tribunal, should be prosecuted for disobedience to the order of the superior Court, and, by a majority of 8 to 2, that the Court of Relação be again notified to comply with the order to review and give judgment in the case.

Ceara lime and coal.—Sr. Ladislao Netto reports that Engineer Pimenta Bueno has sent to the museum a specimen of fine white building limestone found at Pacatuba in Ceará, and also one of perfect lignite or flaming coal, which, being free from pyrites and excess of earthy matter, appears suitable for steamboat and locomotive use. The specimen was found by a farmer, upon the side of the serra Merouoca, almost on the surface.

Among the deaths in the city, that of D. Ursula Maria da Conceiçbo is reported, at the advanced ago of 110.

Dr. Francisco Antonio Marques, living in London, in commemoration of the birthday of a daughter, has sent to Rio the necessary documents freeing a slave woman of 26 and her child.

A VOICE FROM WEST INDIES.

Revolutions going on all around us. The Haytian revolutionists have succeeded at last in putting down Salnave, who was captured and shot along with a number of his principal followers. The other Republic on the same island—the Dominican—is also in a state of revolution just now, there being a strong party opposed to the actual President, Baez, whose whole history proves him to be a great scoundrel, and mindful only of his own personal interest. His last dodge has been a lease of the bay of Samaná to the U. S. Government for fifty years, at a yearly rental of $150,000., with the option of purchase at any time during that period. He has already pocketed the first year's rent, part of which he received in material of war and the balance in cash. The United States' forces are already in possession of Samaná, and their newspapers plainly hint at annexation of the whole island. The treaty for the lease of Samaná to the U. States has passed through the Dominican Congress, which is composed of Baez' friends and tools, but has not yet been ratified by the U. S. Senate, although they are already in possession. The aim of Baez' enemies is to drive him from power before the ratification of the treaty, and as the great majority of the Dominican people are opposed to the alienation of any portion of their country, they may succeed in carrying out their object. In any case the Yankees are likely enough to repent their bargain, as Samaná is a most unhealthy place.

For the last two years there has been a treaty pending between Denmark and the United States for the transfer of this and the neighboring island of St. John. In the beginning of 1868 a popular vote on the subject was taken in the two islands, which resulted in an almost unanimous vote in favor of annexation to the United States. The treaty was ratified by the Danish Parliament, and although the offer to purchase was made and repeatedly pressed by the U. S. Government, they now show a desire to back out, having several times asked for an extension of the time originally granted by Denmark for the ratification of the treaty by the U. S. Senate. The last six months granted will soon expire, and will, it is hoped, then be definitively settled one way or the other, as the state of suspense in which we have been kept for so long has done a great deal of injury to trade. Many merchants and others here who are opposed to the idea of annexation to the United States, being ready to clear out as soon as the change takes place, if ever it does. Personally the change would not affect me much. I detest the Danes and voted in favor of the transfer, but as far as our trade is concerned I believe that the change would play the devil with us. The Danes, bad as they are, have the sense to see that the only thing of value about the place is its trade; they therefore offer every facility to it, in the shape of low duties, &c., while the Yankees would clap taxes on everything, raise the duties, and frighten away our customers. I fear in any case, whether the transfer takes place or not, I shall have to leave this very soon, as the house in which I have been employed for the last fourteen years is thinking of winding up, owing to the depressed state of trade, and in view of the probable change of government. Under such circumstances I should not think of remaining here long, as I should not be likely to get another situation here to suit me so well, and should prefer to try a new country, where I might make a fresh start, and being willing to work, get on a little better than I am likely ever to get on here, where there is no chance for a poor fellow. The thing is that there is no English-speaking country nearer than Australia, where I might be able to do any good for myself, and that is too far off, besides it takes too much money to get there. Not that the distance would make any difference to me, for I have no home nor relations in the world, so I would not mind going anywhere The United States offer splendid prospects to laboring men, but I am not exactly fitted for that kind of work, never having been accustomed to it, besides being in delicate health. Do you think there would be any chance for me in your part of the world? I don't speak much Spanish, but if I went to live in a country where it must be spoken I think I should soon get into it.

From Cuba we receive news through various sources. From Havana we get Government news, which of course is always in favour of the Spaniards, while by way of Jamaica we mostly hear news in favour of the Cubans. The fact is that we know not which to believe. We only know that the Madrid Government is sending out every now and then as many troops as can be spared; of course the inference to be drawn from that is that the troops are required in Cuba. There is a strong party in the United States in favour of recognising the Cuban Government, but they cannot succeed in forcing their opinion on the Government of that country. The Spanish steamer from Cuba, due since the 28th, has not arrived. In fact she is generally late now, being often detained by the Government to carry troops.

I see new stamps have been, or are about to be, issued for Spain and her colonies. I regret not having any at all to send you this time, but hope to have some when next I have this pleasure. Meanwhile I must apologise for troubling you with such a long letter, and beg you to believe me

Very truly yours.
JOSEPH E. DIXON.

MONTEVIDEO.

Thursday.

The news of the death of Lopez has been well received; the church bells were set a-ringing and Fort San José fired a salute of 21 guns. It is a remarkable coincidence that just as we learn of the termination of the Paraguayan war, which was occasioned by the Flores invasion, we have now the news of another invasion in the Uruguay, supposed to be headed by Colonels Aparicio and Benitez with 300 patriots or adventurers who have unfurled the flag of Liberty at the Guaviyú, between Paysandú and Salto. Strange to say they have mixed up Moyano's name with this movement, but it must be a blunder, for he is a friend of the Government and has just been sent as Gefe to Tacuarembó. The odds are that the Government will put down the 'pronunciamiento' without much trouble. The Rio de la Plata has taken up arms and ammunition for the Uruguay.

So many marauders are knocking about the camps that every day brings news of the most daring crimes. An estanciero named Viana has been murdered in Tacuarembó and a friend who was accompanying him only saved his life by hiding himself in an arroyo for 12 hours, up to his neck in water; he is reported insane since the terrible occurrence. Another very respectable man named Castelli, of Puntas de Peñarol, was murdered and robbed of 7,000$.

In town also the thieves and miscreants are so numerous that there is no longer room for them in the prison; 34 have been arrested in the last few days.

The Pasithea has arrived from England with 850 tons rails for the Central Urnguay line. A concession has been signed by Government for a railway to Pand, Minas and Maldonado, which is now before the Fiscal. These are foolish dreams, mere loss of time; the Central Uruguay does not pay working-expenses.

The Government has re-appointed Dr Adolfo Rodriguez as special envoy to Buenos Ayres and Brazil.

The Senatores have thrown out two bills passed by the Deputies; one was to reject the protest by the Junta against the banishment of Ramirez, the other was to consider the various banking projects not in Assembly but in each Chamber apart. The Senate therefore supports the Junta protest, and is for considering the Bank-projects in General Assembly. The Junta have replied to the Government letter about their secretary that they will keep Ramirez in office in spite of the Ministry.

Advices from the Uruguay report the river so high that the steamers pass over the Corralito rocks abreast of Concordia.

The Italian Minister, Count Raffo, is going to give a grand party at his quinta on the Miguelete next Monday, it being the birthday of Victor Emanuel; the Government Ministers are invited.

In spite of it blowing a gale of wind and pouring cats and dogs, the concert at the Solis theatre was a great success: more than forty boxes were occupied and more than two thirds of the 'lunetas' were filled. The best pieces of the evening were Mr Heine's 'Ballo in Maschera.' The solo for one string. 'Norma.' The 'Pito de Lata,' 'The Duet of Gottschalk.' La Oja and Mr. Heine's Piano solo, the rondo in G. and Polka de concierto. Mr. H. was recalled for each piece and played some old English tunes, in reply Mrs. H. did the same. More than half the boxes are secured already for the next performance on Saturday the 12th inst.

Mr Fynn's waterworks are progressing; he is putting up a handsome fountain in the Plaza.

The exports of jerked beef from the River Plate, according to the Telegrafo, for the month of February amounted to—68,800 qq for Brazil and 91,900 qq for Havanna: the quantity at present loading is: 79,300 qq for Brazil, and 75,500 for Havanna.

A midshipman of the Austrian corvette Dandolo died this morning of apoplexy; his funeral will be accompanied to-morrow by a band of music from the Capitania, the Daudolo having left a few days ago.

Mr. Tomkinson junr. took his seat yesterday in the Chamber of Deputies.

General Pozzolo is now quite well and has resumed the Ministry of War.

Another of the Sisters of Charity died yesterday in the service of the poor and sick.

Don Miguel Pino has been admitted a broker on the Bolsa.

The Russian war-steamer Almaz has arrived.

The brig Capella, with lumber for this port, was wrecked off Rio Grande, the crew escaping to Sta. Maria.

The Cuyaba has arrived from Asuncion with 500 Brazilians.

BUENOS AYRES UNDERWRITING CASE IN THE BRITISH COURTS OF LAW.

What with the extraordinary Lopez case which is to be tried all over again in the Scotch Courts, a new trial having been granted, and several other matters from these latitudes now occupying British attention, it now seems that the region of Rio la Plata is in no great danger of being altogether overlooked in the United Kingdom at present, numerous as are the claims of current topics there just now. Among the items forwarded us by Mr. Neill the Montevidean Consul General in London, per the Falmouth mail of the 3rd of February, is the following, which will commend itself to the consideration of our mercantile readers, the point raised being one of entire novelty and great intricacy; and we shall ever watch with no little anxiety for the decision, which Mr. Neill says he anticipates will be delivered in time to be made known here by the Pacific Mail sailing from Liverpool on Saturday the 12th February:

EXCHEQUER CHAMBER Feb. 2.

(Sitting in error. Present.—The Lord Chief Baron, Barons Martin, Channel, Pigott, and Cleasby, and Justices Willes, Byles, and Brett).

The Court this morning took errors from the Court of Queen's Bench.

Harrower v. Hutchinson.

This was an action upon a policy of insurance on the vessel Matanzas. The defence was that the port to which the vessel insured went was not within the meaning of the policy, and that there was a concealment of the facts relative to that port, and it was contended that the underwriters were discharged by reason of the concealment. It appeared that the vessel was bound to Buenos Ayres, and from there she went to a place within that province called 'Laguna de los Padres' which was about 200 miles from B. Ayres. This place was utterly unknown to all the underwriters in England. No European vessel had ever loaded there, but there were two small regular local traders in the habit of loading there. The agent of the Matanzas in Glasgow was written to by the captain of the vessel, giving a description of the place called 'Laguna de los Padres,' and directing him to effect a policy from Buenos Ayres to other ports, and thence to England. This was done. The vessel arrived at this place ('Laguna') on the 19th of December, 1861. She left the place on the 15th of January, 1862, and was wrecked on the 16th of January and became a total loss. The case came before the Court of Queen's Bench, when there was a judgment against the underwriters, and this was an appeal against that decision.

Mr. Mellish, Q. C. (with him Mr. Cohen), for the appellants, the underwriters, submitted that the meaning of the policy was that the vessel should go to some known port, and not to a place which was perfectly unknown and where no European vessel had ever gone. It was putting upon an underwriter a risk into which he had no intention of entering. If an assured was going to send a vessel to a port where there was more than a common risk, he was bound to inform the underwriter of the fact. The underwriter took an average, and upon that he founded and charged his premium, but this was fixed according to the facts known or communicated by the assured. If a man knew of any particular risk, he was bound to communicate it.

Mr. Milward, Q. C., was heard on the other side. The assured had applied to one underwriter, who had refused to grant a policy except upon a large premium, and then he went to the defendants.

The Court.—If it was a port unknown to all underwriters?

Mr. Milward said if it was a port at all it would be sufficient.

Mr. Baron Martin said the place was described as not being a port at all, but it was a place where no vessel could anchor within a quarter of a mile of the shore.

Mr. Milward said, geographically speaking, it was a port.

The Chief Baron said the question was whether the underwriters were bound to know it.

Mr. Milward said there were two vessels of 200 or 300 tons in the habit of trading there regularly, therefore to some extent it must be known. It had been held that the underwriters were bound to know all ports.

The Court said they would deliver judgment on an early day.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The Royal Mail Steamship Oneida arrived at Montevideo late on Thursday afternoon. The weather at the time was so boisterous in that port that the Port Captain's boat could not get off to make the customary visit, so we were unable to give our readers the telegram we are accustomed to publish on the arrival of each steamer from Europe. Up to a late hour yesterday a gale was blowing at Montevideo that prevented any communication with the Oneida, and it is believed she cannot arrive here till to-morrow morning. Four small craft were sunk in the harbour of Montevideo by the gale yesterday.

The city has not yet recovered the effects of the hurricane on Wednesday night. In almost every street, particularly in those some distance from the centre, the ravages of the storm were on Thursday and yesterday quite apparent. 'Debris' lay about in all directions, and fallen tiles, tumbled chimneys, broken windows, dead horses and dogs, etc. met the eye at every step. The beach near the mole and up to the Gas House presented a most distressing spectacle, being literally paved with the wrecks of the unfortunate whaleboats and other small craft destroyed by the gale. On Thursday forenoon the wind, which had died away in the early morning, veered round and blew for several hours a stiff gale from the Pampas, and towards night torrents of rain again came down, but with nothing like the force of the previous night. Yesterday morning the barometer was very unsteady, and the temperature by Fahrenheit's thermometer was that of winter, 58 deg.; there is every probability of the present unsettled weather lasting for some time longer.

The America came up from Montevideo on Thursday night in the teeth of the 'pampero' and had a very rough tussle with the winds and waves on the passage. She, nevertheless, made good time and arrived at an early hour. Some disasters had taken place in the sister port, and many of the larger vessels had stiff work on Thursday to ride at their anchors.

It is supposed that the invasion of the Banda Oriental, reported by many of our colleagues and reproduced by us yesterday, is a 'canard,' as the Montevidean Government have had no communication on the point except that sent by telegram from this city. The Telegrafo says the report is devoid of foundation.

Sr. Miguel de Pino, well known in the commercial world of Rio, has become a broker on the Exchange of Montevideo.

There is no foundation for the report that went the round of the metropolitan press, to the effect that H.E. the Vice President of the Republic intended paying a visit to Rosario. His Excellency has left town for his charming country seat at Belgrano, where he intends sojourning for the next month.

The cold winds and inclement weather of the last few days has brought many families into town from their summer residences. We shall soon have all the fashionable world back for the winter months, as summer probably took a farewell of us—a somewhat rough one—in the hurricane of Wednesday night.

We understand the English Bazaar and Fancy Fair in aid of the funds of the British Hospital, which has been for some considerable time past in contemplation is now fixed to come off in the first week of May. Mrs Parish, Mrs Boyd, Mrs Russell, and some other well known English ladies are the Lady Patronesses. Although we have but an indifferent appreciation of Bazaars in general, considering the laudable purpose in view we heartily wish this attempt on the pockets of 'charitable males' every success.

Amongst the passengers per Oneida we notice the names of Mr and Mrs Smithers and Dr George Fair.

All the Foreign Ministers resident accredited to this Republic have acknowledged in congratulatory terms the receipt of the circular from the Minister of Foreign Affairs informing them of the definite conclusion of the Paraguayan war.

We intend publishing to-morrow the plot of Aroldo, to be performed in the evening at the Opera House. The plot is laid in England and on the shores of Loch Lomond in the time of the Crusades; according to the "libretto", the bagpipes should take a prominent part in the last act.

The health of the population greatly improved, according to the official returns, during Carnival week; no maladies of a grave kind are reported as prevailing, except colds, resulting from water throwing on the sly by the Abigails of the city, and indeed occasionally by higher folk, also of the feminine gender.

The provincial papers contain nothing of the slightest interest; 'l'ordre regne,' money scarce, fewer murders, and mere elections, are the staple of their intelligence.

A gatekeeper on the Southern Railway was found dead at his post on Thursday morning; he was seen at the gate under his charge by the guard of the last up train on the previous night. The cause of his death is as yet unknown.

It appears the new arrangements made by the English and French mail packet companies for sending on their large steamers to the Plate instead of stopping at Rio have created great dissatisfaction on both sides of the English Channel; and it is already a question of rescinding them and falling back on the old practise of a supplementary steamer from Rio to Buenos Ayres. The chief cause of this change in public opinion is the increased expense to the companies, and the danger such large vessels are exposed to by the difficult navigation at the mouth of the Plate, and the perils incidental to having to anchor so far out in the river; in addition, since the new rules came into force, from some cause, the steamers have not kept good time on their homeward trips, the French man on one occasion omitting to call at Pernambuco for the mail bags. There is, nevertheless, a disposition manifested in some quarters to give the new system a further trial before determining on a resumption of the old one.

The Senate met on Thursday and unanimously passed the Convention bill sent up from the Chamber of Deputies. We may now expect to have the question of Judicial Reform, the most important internal one awaiting solution, effectually and finally dealt with in a spirit consonant with the people's wishes and the enlightenment of our times.

Several of our subscribers in and around Paysandu have complained to us of the very scandalous manner in which business is conducted at the Post-office in that town. It appears from their statements that this important department is there committed to the care of a parcel of boys in various stages of their teens, and the very natural result is that letters go astray, far oftener than they reach their destination, and even when delivered it is most irregularly and at the good pleasure of the juvenile employees who are 'in addition' not a whit too civil to the public. We call the attention of the Superior authorities in Montevideo to this state of things which if allowed to continue must prove most detrimental to the progress of the town and department.

Minister Bustamante has had mercy on the lovers of Carnival in the neighbouring capital. He has not abolished the institution as was feared, but has issued a decree regulating such festivals for the future, and is determined to stand no more 'brutal diversion' as he very properly calls the water throwing that prevailed during the three days of the last Carnival in the capital of Uruguay.

The usual half yearly election of members of the commitee for the British Club Royal Standard came off on Monday evening, and on Tuesday the newly elected officers received their respective charges and appointments. The committee stands:—

President, Mr John Alexander Mac Lean, reelected.
Vice do., Ty Swords.
Secretary, Albert Hanson, reelected to office.
Treasurer, G. Eckell.
Additional members of committee, Mr L. Linklater and Mr W. Bell.

The Secretary read his report, which we are happy to say gave sufficient proofs of the speedy advancement of the club, the present number of members being over four times the number that sat at the inauguration table... The readin; rooms of the club make a grand addition.

A subscription banquet takes place this evening at the Club Parque in celebration of the termination of the Paraguayan war. Our indefatigable colleague Orion is the chief promoter in the matter, and as he always devotes his best energy to whatever he takes in hand, we anticipate that the affair will be a great success. Among the subscribers are to be seen the names of our leading men, both natives and foreigners. Parties wishing to subscribe to this dinner and the subsequent ball can apply to Don Hector Varela at his private residence, No. 59, Calle Suipacha.

The entries for the races at the impending meeting of the Jockey Club, advertised to take place in Belgrano on 25th inst., close on Monday next, 14th inst., at 7 p.m. We regret however to be informed that there are likely to be but few horses forthcoming.

The Revue Musicale devotes a highly eulogistic article to the memory of poor Gottschalk, whose musical talents had obtained for him a great reputation in Europe.

A statistician with a plethora of time on hands has ascertained that during the late Carnival there were as many eggs thrown in the town of Corrientes as shells fired by the Brazilians at the siege of Humaitá.

We have followed with the greatest interest Dr Lopez' views on the great question of Judicial Reform as published in late numbers of the Tribuna. All our social, political, and judicial grievances arise in a great measure from the system that Dr Lopez attacks with so much ability and vigour. The views of the learned gentleman on this important subject should receive the earnest attention of the Convention about to assemble for the purpose of altering the Constitution.

"THE WRONG MAN."

Dolores, Feb. 19, 1870.

To the Editors of the STANDARD.

Gentlemen—

My knowledge of the wish-to-do-good feeling ever apparent in the columns of the STANDARD has led me to hope that you will kindly give publicity to the following—told me by the 'wrong man' himself.

A few days ago a robbery of some gold was committed on board a small trading schooner now lying in this river. The captain sent information to the police, and their search, as the sequel will show, was not confined to the town.

It so happened that our friend the 'wrong man,' who is a German, unconscious of danger rode up to the Estancia Concordia, which is situated three leagues from here, asking for work; he had only just dismounted when a 'policiano' galloped up, and seeing a large pair of saddle-bags on the man's 'recado' it immediately occurred to that intelligent officer that the stolen money might be in those bags; on the strength of this passing thought, without the usual preliminary search this zealous supporter of the public peace peremptorily ordered the German to mount his horse and accompany him, enforcing his command by pointing a huge brass-bound antidiluvian looking sort of weapon in his victim's face; finding expostulation in vain, and being like most of his countrymen of a philosophical temperament, the poor fellow prudently determined to succumb to circumstances. Perhaps, however, the dangerous machine carried so gracefully by Mr. Policeman might have influenced his decision.

Arriving here he was immediately conducted to the lock-up.

On the second night of his confinement a policeman honoured the poor German with a visit—not to ask him if he was hungry, as the unfortunate man fondly supposed, but after a few preliminary remarks evincing a decided confidential tendency, delicately hinted that his (the policeman's) private opinion was, the application of a golden key to the lock of his prison door would have a beneficial effect on the health and spirits of the gentleman he had the honour of addressing.

Politely as this was conveyed it failed to convince our friend, who confident in his innocence declined all assistance; the next day he was ordered to walk out, and to thank God that he got off so easily.

The German protested, and was laughed at; asked for his horse, and was told to seek it; demanded compensation, and was referred to his Mamma.

A gentleman here disgusted at the man's unjust treatment, kindly lent him a horse to go to Concordia, without this timely assistance the poor fellow would have been left on foot, having lost his horse, recado, and time, simply because he was the 'wrong man.'

The real thief, an Italian, has escaped to the monte.

This dodge of seizing foreigners on the slightest pretext has been practised long enough; hard-up politicians may find it very convenient to extort money from "los grijgos," but we cannot say we find it so very convenient to be robbed, shut up, and half-starved, on the grounds of our having a large pair of saddle bags.

Apologising for the length of this letter, which I have not the wit to compress into smaller compass, I have the honor to be,

Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
TEUTON.

ON 'CHANGE.

	March 11, 1870.
Ounces	400
Sovereigns	122½
Patacons	25
National Bonds	66¼

The Bond market ruled a shade flatter to-day. The cash sales amounted to 2600 at 64½; for Saturday 6000 at 66½; for March 31st, 35,000 at 66¾; total sold, 42,600. In Gas Shares 39 sold at 70, equal to 84 before dividend.

The chief news of the day was the establishment of a branch of the Wanklyn Bank in Montevideo. Mr. ——, a gentleman connected with the bank here, has been named to the management of the new branch.

In exchange there was very little done to-day owing to drawers holding out for 50, but it can hardly be quoted as the rate; on France there was a brisk business done at 5.28.

It was very currently rumoured to-day on 'Change that Mrs. Lynch and children had passed over to the Brazilian lines, and will be at once sent to Europe. How this news came down none can well say, but it was freely spoken of.

The Count D'Eu and Sr. Paranhos are expected down early in the ensuing week—they will touch here, and then push on for Rio.

A notice has been posted up at the Bolsa to the owners of goods at the Aduana Chica to the effect that the Custom House Collector had arranged with the committee appointed by the merchants that all damaged goods can be removed immediately, the valuation to be made either on the account sales of the auctioneer, or by the vista valuing the damaged portion at the respective houses on inspection; the general feeling in this matter is that the municipality of Buenos Ayres should be held responsible for the loss.

Eighty thousand patacons were offered on Bonds to day at 1 per cent per month by Sr. Belgrano, but could not be placed, the highest offer being ½, which was declined.

It is probable that in the beginning of the month the Provincial Bank will return to its system of collecting on bills and mortgages only five per cent.

Most of the private banks are about to reduce their rates as the causes which produced the rise have been removed.

In produce nothing whatever done owing to the weather.

The storm is still uppermost; it will have one good effect for the whole commercial public now admit, had the port been at Ensenada, we should have been spared the loss of life and property which occurred; the damage to shipping alone would of itself have been sufficient to build a great part of the proposed railroad. The Ensenada Railway must now be built, and built at once; the commerce of Buenos Ayres calls for it. Many parties insist that the whole capital required to construct the line can be had in this city.

The Ensenada Railway was talked over in certain circles on the Bolsa, and from what we could gather it seems that a new company for the making of the road is being formed, the parties engaged being the principal native capitalists of this place. There is nothing whatever said about Mr. Wheelwright's concession, which seems the more extraordinary, since we understand Mr. Wheelwright is at present in town and in constant communication with the Government about the matter. We hope to see all interests consulted in the matter; none more capable than Mr Wheelwright could be engaged for the work; his credit at home is of itself sufficient capital to build the road, and should there be any question as to the concession, the best plan by far to adopt is for both parties to come to terms and at once commence the works.

A circular of Messrs. Borc & Son, from Marseilles, gives the following respecting the trade o the River Plate with that port during the year 1868-69:—The number of vessels entered inwards in 69 was 59, against 50 in 68; of these 39 were from Buenos Ayres. Outwards there were 109 ships, against 62 in 1868, 52 of them being for Buenos Ayres. The total trade shows an increase of 56 vessels inwards and outwards over 1868. In hides of various kinds the imports show an increase of 74,498 from the Plate and 33,806 from Rio Grande. The importation of sheepskins exceeded by 5,006 bales that of 1868; the stock on hands at the end of the year was very small. The imports of wool from the Plate for 1869 show a falling off as compared with 1868 of 2,050 bales. Tallow shows an increase of about 5,000 pipes imported, being more than that taken from Russia. Horsehair sold at average rates throughout the year; no stock of this article on hands at its close. Upon the whole the trade of the Plate with Marseilles shows an increase, and that port is now admitted to be an excellent market for River Plate produce.

The storm in Montevideo has detained the packet there; at 3 o'clock to-day it was blowing so hard that the 'visit' had not been able to go aboard, so it is not altogether certain whether we shall have her in the morning or not. From what we find in some English papers, it seems probable that the Arno will again be sent to the Plate, as the present system of sending the large steamers to the Plate, and anchoring twelve miles out in the river, is found to fall far short of the result anticipated by the company.

Messrs. G. W. Drabble and C. T. Drabble, have both retired from the firm of Drabble Bros. and Co. The firm and its business will henceforward be carried on by W.H. Moores, E. Cooper and Urban Smith, gentlemen who have been connected with the house for many years, and who are well and favorably known to our commercial public.

Respecting the wreck of the Konigsberg, which we adverted to in a recent number, the following is the master's report:—

The Konisberg, 187 tons, from Buenos Ayres for Havre [tallow]. The captain of the brig explains his proceedings previous to the disaster as follows:—On December 29 hove-to under a close reefed maintrysail, wind S., a heavy gale, and weather thick, with a heavy sea running. On 30th, at 5.30 p.m., saw a bright light bearing N.E., distant about six miles, which I supposed to be the Eddystone Light. Set a close-reefed foresail, and shaped the course to N.E. for Plymouth, running before the wind. Passed the light on the starboard side, and in about a quarter of an hour saw another light ahead, which I took for Plymouth Breakwater. In about five minutes found we were in shallow water, and a high sea breaking clean over the ship. She struck at 7 p.m., but got over the ledge of rocks into a cove, which proved to be Priest Cove, south of Cape Cornwall. Ship's lights were burning. We got on shore about 9 p.m. on 30th, and at 10 p.m. she was entirely broken up. One life was lost by the casualty. One of the crew, who swam ashore with a rope attached to his person, was the means of saving the remainder of the crew, six in number.

IF THE STOMACH IS WEAK so is the individual, for no human being can thrive on indigestion. To avoid the pangs of dyspepsia some persons starve themselves, and even then do not attain their object, although they reduce themselves almost to skin and bone. There is an easy way to restore the stomach to its full vigor ir dyspeptics choose to adop it. A course of Bristol's Sugar-coated Pills will put the whole digestive, secretive, and excretive, and excretive apparatus simultaneously in order, and relieve the debility which indigestion inevitably produces The sugar envelope aenders the pills as palatable as confectionery.

SAVINGS BANK

BANK MAUA AND Co.

101--Cangallo--103

BUENOS AYRES.

The immense advantages of Accounts Current we now so generally felt and appreciated in the two great emporiums of the River Plate, Montevideo and Buenos Ayres, that there are very few Merchants who fail to keep one at the bank in which they place the most confidence.

The Bank of Mauá & Co. in Montevideo has already provided for the working classes in that city a safe and profitable depositary for their savings.

The sums deposited in that very important institution are daily increasing, and already reach a very large amount.

These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of clerks artisans, working men, and servants of all classes and conditions, who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need, sickness, or old age, instead of spending them in the immoral gambling, in lotteries, and other frivolities.

The Bank of Mauá & Co. of this city, following the noble example of their firm in Montevideo, now offer the same facilities in this city, and has opened a Savings Bank at No 103 Calle Cangallo from Nine a.m. till Three p.m. every day, for the reception of the savings of the classes already mentioned, Sundays and holidays excepted.

The Bank will deliver to each depositors a pass book, in which will be entered the amount deposited and withdrawn.

The depositor is permitted at any time to withdraw the whole or part of the sum deposited; in the former case the interes will be calculated up to date.

The Bank of Mauá & Co. is sufficiently known to the Public by the benefit derived from the course of its operations, which are regulated on the strictest and soundest principles, and always directed to promote the general welfare.

The Bank of Mauá & Co. are also persuaded that this new branch of their business will render immense service to the working classes of Buenos Ayres and its neighborhood.

Buenos Ayres, 2nd January, 1867.

P. P. MAUA & Co.,

M. A. DE FREITAS AMORIM.

CONDITIONS.

First—The Bank receives at interest any sum from Twenty-five Dollars currency or one Silver Dollar upwards.

Second—The interest allowed is six per cent. (6 p. %) per annum, which is liquidated every six months.

Third—The depositors can at any time retire the whole or part of the money deposited.

Fourth—Once the money deposited exceeds twenty-five thousand dollars currency, or one thousand dollars silver, the depositor, if he wishes can open an account current, according to the rules established by the Bank.

Fifth—In case the depositor loses his pass book it can be replaced by another on paying twelve dollars currency, and advertising the loss in the public newspapers.

MUNICIPALITY

Proposals will be received for the construction of the new Slaughter Works, at the South Market, the Plans for which have just been sanctioned by the Authorities.

Parties must be prepared to conclude the whole work with their own capital, as no pecuniary advances will be made by this Corporation. The Plans may be seen at the Engineer's Office. The Chief of said Department will give all the necessary information as to the number and quality of the Materials to be therein employed. The Works must be finished and in working order within eighteen months from the celebration of the Contract.

In payment, the Municipality binds itself to pay monthly for as many years as shall be agreed on by the contracting parties, the sum of $6 m/c on each head of cattle slaughtered therein, from the moment the Works are first brought into requisition.

The preference will be given to whomsoever gives the best guarantee and requires the shortest time to collect the above tax. No License will be given to any other Killing Ground whilst the Contract for this lasts.

The Contractor must lodge a certain amount as security for the proper fulfilment of the works.

Sealed Tenders must be deposited in the Secretary's Office before the 15th of March, on which day, at Two p.m., they will be opened by the Congreso de Gobiernos, in presence of the proposers. 1 feb24

ANCLA.

A LOS SEÑORES ALMACENEROS Y LOS DEL GREMIO ESTABLECIDOS EN LA CAMPAÑA, COMO A TODOS LOS CONSUMIDORES DE GINEBRA EN GENERAL.

Habiendo los Señores J. Lassalle hijo introducido ultimamente fuertes partidas de Ginebra con el nombre de un fabricante fingido, imitando hasta las menores particularidades de la condicion esterior de la Ginebra marca Ancla volvemos á hacer recordar al público que la verdadera Ginebra marca Ancla no puede traerse al Rio de la Plata sino por nuestro conducto, segun consta por el certificado que sigue al pié de la presente.

Hacemos observar que la imitacion que actualmente se está ofreciendo en el mercado, engaña con facilidad al que no desconfie y por lo tanto damos á continuacion las señas de la marca Ancla verdadera.

Esterior de las frasqueras, de un lado se halla el nombre de los fabricantes—en letras blancas, y tambien una ancla. La tapa de las frasqueras viene con nuestras iniciales A. & H.

El frasco tiene cápsula y etiqueta con el nombre de los fabricantes;—está tambien claramente estampado el dicho nombre en el plano del frasco pero de un lado solo.

LA IMITACION

a la que principalmente se refiere este aviso, tiene casi las mismas señas. solamente que el nombre, de que se han servido los introductores, es el de Van Kotema & Co.; han cambiado pues la H en K y han suprimido la Y que debe seguir despues de la O en el nombre verdadero.

Esteriormente se conoce la imitacion por traer las frasqueras el nombre del supuesto fabricante en letras negras, mientras que la legitima viene con letras blancas. La marca de fuego dice V. K. & Co. en lugar del V. H. & Co. de la legitima. En las letras estampadas en el plano de los frascos se nota que las de la imitacion son mucho mas grandes que las de la Ginebra Legitima.

Tenemos aviso de otra imitacion mas, pero no nos detenemos con ella, estando por lo que antecede suficientemente esplicadas las señas que unicamente merecen fé.

Se nos ha imitado tambien nuestras Damajuanas de la misma fábrica, pero, como todas ellas vienen con nuestro nombre en las etiquetas, basta que los compradores se fijen en este requisito.

Buenos Aires, 7 de Marzo de 1870.

Arning & Hútz.
Cuyo 65.

CERTIFICADO.

Por la presente declaramos haber nombrado a los Sres. Harning & Hútz en Buenos Aires como agentes unicos para la venta en los puertos del Rio de la Plata, de la Ginebra de nuestra fábrica, acreditada bajo la marca Ancla.

Al mismo tiempo nos obligamos a no consignar ni vender los productos de nuestra fábrica de Ginebra a otras casas para la exportacion del Rio de la Plata,—Rotterdam, Abril 1869, [Firmado] Hoytema & C.

El abajo firmado, Consul de la Republica Argentina en Amsterdam, certifica: que la firma que está al pié de este documento es la de los Sres. Van Hoytema & Co., y escrita de su puño y letra.

Para constancia doy el presente firmado por mi y sellado con el sello de este Consulado.

Amsterdam, 20 de Abril de 1869.

THROUGH
SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

Every drop of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent communicates through the blood, Sweat, Urine, and other fluids and juices of the system, the vigour of life, for it repairs the wastes of the body with new and sound material. Scrofula, Consumption, Syphilis, uncured and badly treated Venereal, in its many forms, Glandular disease, Ulcers in the Throat, Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the Glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumorous discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all weakening and Painful Discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm and all wastes of the Life Principle, are within the curative range of this wonder of Modern Chemistry, and a few day's use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of disease, its potent power to cure them. If the patient, daily becoming reduced by the wastes and decomposition that is continually progressing, succeeds in arresting these wastes, and repairs the same with new material made from healthy blood, and this the Sarsaparillian will, and does secure, a cure is certain, for when once this remedy commences its work of purification, and succeeds in diminishing the loss of wastes, its repairs will be rapid, and every day the patient will feel himself growing better and stronger, the food digesting better, appetite improving, the flesh and weight increasing.

Not only does the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT excel as a known remedial agents in the cure of Chronic, Scrofulous Constitutional, Skin and Syphiloid diseases, but it is the only positive cure for Kidney, Bladder, Urinary and Womb disease, Gravel, Diabetes, Dropsy, Stoppage of Water, Incontinence of Urine, Bright's disease, Albuminuria and in all cases where there are brick dust deposits, or the water is thick, cloudy, mixed with substances like the white of an egg or threads like white silk, or there is a morbid, dark, billious appearance, and white bone dust deposits, and when there is prickling, burning sensation when passing water, and pains in the Small of the Back, along the loins.

In all these conditions Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, aided by the application of Radway's Ready Relief to the Spine and Small of the Back, and the Bowels regulated with one or two RADWAY'S REGULATING PILLS per day will soon make a complete cure, and in a few days the patient will be enabled to hold and discharge his water naturally without pain, and the Urine will be restored to its natural clear, and amber or cherry color.

Sold by Druggists everywhere.

Radway's Ready Relief,

THE CHEAPEST AND BEST MEDICINE FOR FAMILY USE IN THE WORLD.

One bottle will cure more complaints and prevent the system against sudden attacks of Epidemics and contagious diseases, than one hundred dollars expended in other medicines or medical attendance.

The moment RADWAY'S READY RELIEF is applied externally—or taken internally, according to directions—Pain from whatever cause, ceases to exist.

IMPORTANT.

Miners, Farmers and others residing in sparsely settled districts, where it is difficult to secure the services of a physician, RADWAY'S READY RELIEF is invaluable. It can be used with positive assurance of doing good in all cases where pain or discomfort is experienced, or if seized with Influenza, Diphtheria, Sore Throat, Bad Coughs, Hoarseness, Bilious Colic, Inflammation of the Bowels, Stomach, Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, or with Croup, Quinsy, Fever and Ague; or with Neuralgia, Headache, Tic Doloreux, Toothache, Earache; or with Lumbago, Pain in the Back, or Rheumatism; or with Diarrhœa, Cholera Morbus, or Dysentery; or with Strains, Cramps or Spasms, the application of RADWAY'S READY RELIEF will cure you of the worst of these complaints in a few hours.

RHEUMATISM.

This painful disease has baffled the most skillful physicians and popular remedies. It is the most difficult of diseases to treat, yet RADWAY'S READY RELIEF, has never failed in affording immediate relief to the sufferer; and in all cases of Acute, Inflammatory or Nervous Rheumatism, to effect a Permanent cure. (In Chronic Rheumatism or Gout, RADWAY'S RENOVATING RESOLVENT AND REGULATING PILLS should be taken as an adjunct with the READY RELIEF.)

Sold by Druggists everywhere.

Dr. Radway's Pills.

For the cure of all Disorders of the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys, Bladder, Nervous Diseases, Headache, Constipation, Costiveness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Billiousness, Billious Fever, Inflammation of the Bowels, Piles and all Derangements of the Internal Viscera.

. Warranted to effect a positive cure. Purely vegetable. Containing no Mercury, Minerals or Deleterious Drugs.

OBSERVE THE FOLLOWING SYMPTONS RESULTING FROM DISORDERS OF THE DIGESTIVE ORGANS:

Constipation, Inward Piles, Fulness of the Blood to the Head, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausea, Heartburn, Disgust for Food, Fulness or Weight in the Stomach, Sour Eructations, Sinking or Fluttering at the Heart, Choking or Suffocating Sensations when in a Lying Posture, Dimness of Vision, Dots or Webs before the Sight, Fever and Dull Pain in the Head, Deficiency of Perspiration, Yellowness of the Skin and Eyes, Pain in the Side Chest, Limbs, and sudden Flushes of Heat, Burning, in the Flesh.

A few doses of RADWAY'S PILLS will free the System from all the above named disorders.

Caution:

As some unprincipled Druggists are selling a spurious preparation, representing it to be the genuine "Dr. Radway's Ready Relief," the Public are cautioned against purchasing same, as it is only calculated to increase, instead of mitigating, the disease. The deception is easily detected, the figures on the wrapper of the falsified being badly brought out (apparently from a wood engraving), whilst those of the genuine are beautifully distinct. The signature of Radway and Co. is also badly imitated, and the bottles are somewhat larger than those received from Dr. Radway and Co.
